It has been speculated for a while now that Tyson would like to move on from the Houston Rockets, and perhaps the Knicks will be the best destination for him. The Knicks have been one of the more interesting teams in the NBA this year, and the Rockets have had a rather rough season. According to Adrian Wojnarowski, Tyson Chandler, among others, had his mind made up long before the Rockets announced that they were not going to trade for Carmelo Anthony. Word is Tyson Chandler made his decision a long time ago and didn't consult anyone else on it. He has to want to go to the Knicks and is 100% committed to that. — Adrian Wojnarowski (@WojYahooNBA) March 30, 2014 Tyson has always said he is a die-hard Rockets fan and has roots there. I don't think we will see him in Knicks purple and black in the coming years. It's no secret that the Knicks and Rockets have been on the phone for the last few months, with the teams talking trade. Tyson could fill a huge hole on the Knicks defense and would be a huge upgrade over what they have there now. The Knicks are a team that has seen great progress this year, especially with the additions of Steve Nash and Chandler Parsons, and the team has shown great chemistry. Steve Nash is also a Houston native, so a trade like this makes a lot of sense. It would fill two needs at once for the Knicks: size and ca3bfb1094
