FIFA 22 also introduces a new Transfer Market feature that allows you to buy and sell players' rights and instantly transfer them from one club to another. Transfer system As soon as a player signs a contract, you can decide whether or not to renew the player for a new contract, or if you wish to let the player go. Players must then be transferred and signed for the new club. In addition to this, before a new transfer can take place, the contract the player has agreed to at the old club must be ratified by both clubs; this means the player cannot be withdrawn by the club until this happens. To allow players to sell their players to your new club, a fee must first be paid to the old club. This fee is £6,000 for domestic players and £10,000 for foreign players.
